Examination number: 60701  Module Name: Professional Communication  (English):  Responsible:   acob. Mark / Dr.   Polanski. Katja    Lecturer(s):   acob. Mark / Dr.   Institute(s):   International Centre/ Languages  Duration:   1 Semester(s)  Competencies:   The module introduces participants to fundamental principles and practices of communication. Participants familiarize themselves with essential linguistic features and typical structures of oral and written texts. They acquire strategies to cope with various oral and written communication situations in academic and professional contexts. They are able to present content and to communicate in a way that is specific and suitable for the type of text and context and to argue their own point of view in a variety of situations. The module is taught in English.  Contents:   Analysis of a variety of written and oral texts	Data:	PROFCOM. BA. Nr. 349 / Version: 29.06.2022 📜 Start Year: WiSe 2022
Module Name: Professional Communication  (English):  Responsible: Jacob. Mark / Dr. Polanski, Katja Lecturer(s): Jacob. Mark / Dr. Institute(s): International Centre/ Languages  Duration: J. Semester(s)  Competencies: The module introduces participants to fundamental principles and practices of communication. Participants familiarize themselves with essential linguistic features and typical structures of oral and written texts. They acquire strategies to cope with various oral and written communication situations in academic and professional contexts. They are able to present content and to communicate in a way that is specific and suitable for the type of text and context and to argue their own point of view in a variety of situations. The module is taught in English.  Contents: Analysis of a variety of written and oral texts  Fundamentals of professional communication, e.g. communication and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication and stylistics  Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay  Presenting  Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature: Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R. B; Rodman, G. R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Portfolio/Penguin Symany and What You Sory-and What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin Symany and What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin Symany and What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin Symany and What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin Symany and Productive skills  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments coverin		·
Module Name:    Professional Communication
Responsible:       acob, Mark / Dr.	Module Name:
Polanski. Katja Lecturer(s): lacob. Mark / Dr. Institute(s): International Centre/ Languages Duration: 1 Semester(s) Competencies: The module introduces participants to fundamental principles and practices of communication. Participants familiarize themselves with essential linguistic features and typical structures of oral and written texts. They acquire strategies to cope with various oral and written communication situations in academic and professional contexts. They are able to present content and to communicate in a way that is specific and suitable for the type of text and context and to argue their own point of view in a variety of situations. The module is taught in English.  Contents: • Analysis of a variety of written and oral texts • Fundamentals of professional communication, e.g. communication theory, formal and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication + Aspects of English grammar and stylistics • Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay • Presenting • Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature: Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B.; Rodman, G.R.; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Bont-1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin Pre-requisites:  General English level B2  Recommendations:  General English level B2  Recommendation (2019) oxford; Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-refloid exam constisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments co	(English):
Polanski. Katja Lecturer(s): lacob. Mark / Dr. Institute(s): International Centre/ Languages Duration: 1 Semester(s) Competencies: The module introduces participants to fundamental principles and practices of communication. Participants familiarize themselves with essential linguistic features and typical structures of oral and written texts. They acquire strategies to cope with various oral and written communication situations in academic and professional contexts. They are able to present content and to communicate in a way that is specific and suitable for the type of text and context and to argue their own point of view in a variety of situations. The module is taught in English.  Contents: • Analysis of a variety of written and oral texts • Fundamentals of professional communication, e.g. communication theory, formal and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication + Aspects of English grammar and stylistics • Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay • Presenting • Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature: Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B.; Rodman, G.R.; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Bont-1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin Pre-requisites:  General English level B2  Recommendations:  General English level B2  Recommendation (2019) oxford; Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-refloid exam constisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments co	Responsible:	lacob. Mark / Dr.
Institute(s): International Centre/ Languages Duration: 1 Semester(s) Competencies: The module introduces participants to fundamental principles and practices of communication. Participants familiarize themselves with essential linguistic features and typical structures of oral and written texts. They acquire strategies to cope with various oral and written communication situations in academic and professional contexts. They are able to present content and to communicate in a way that is specific and suitable for the type of text and context and to argue their own point of view in a variety of situations. The module is taught in English.  Contents: • Analysis of a variety of written and oral texts • Fundamentals of professional communication, e.g. communication theory, formal and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication. • Aspects of English grammar and stylistics • Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay • Presenting • Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature: Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B.; Rodman, G.R.; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxfor University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching: Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites: General English level B2 each semester  Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Grade: The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following written and o		Polanski, Katja
Duration:  I. Semester(s)  Competencies:  The module introduces participants to fundamental principles and practices of communication. Participants familiarize themselves with essential linguistic features and typical structures of oral and written texts. They acquire strategies to cope with various oral and written communication situations in academic and professional contexts. They are able to present content and to communicate in a way that is specific and suitable for the type of text and context and to argue their own point of view in a variety of situations. The module is taught in English.  Contents:  • Analysis of a variety of written and oral texts • Fundamentals of professional communication, e.g. communication theory, formal and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication • Aspects of English grammar and stylistics • Preparation of written texts, e.g., forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay • Presenting • Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g., job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature:  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B.; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Say-and What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin Types of Teaching:  Recommendations:  General English level B2 each semester  Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains:  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following written and oral c	Lecturer(s):	acob, Mark / Dr.
Competencies:  The module introduces participants to fundamental principles and practices of communication. Participants familiarize themselves with essential linguistic features and typical structures of oral and written texts. They acquire strategies to cope with various oral and written communication situations in academic and professional contexts. They are able to present content and to communicate in a way that is specific and suitable for the type of text and context and to argue their own point of view in a variety of situations. The module is taught in English.  Contents:  • Analysis of a variety of written and oral texts • Fundamentals of professional communication, e.g. communication theory, formal and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication of Aspects of English grammar and stylistics • Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay • Presenting • Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature:  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B.; Rodman, G.B.; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Say—and What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites:  Recommendations:  General English level B2 each semester  Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains:  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following written and or	Institute(s):	International Centre/ Languages practices of communication. Participants familiarize themselves with essential linguistic features and typical structures of oral and written texts. They acquire strategies to cope with various oral and written communication situations in academic and professional contexts. They are able to present content and to communicate in a way that is specific and suitable for the type of text and context and to argue their own point of view in a variety of situations. The module is taught in English.  Contents:  • Analysis of a variety of written and oral texts • Fundamentals of professional communication, e.g. communication theory, formal and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication application documents, report, argumentative essay • Presenting • Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature:  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B.; Rodman, G.R.; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Say—and What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching:  Pre-requisites:  Recommendations: General English level B2 each semester Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains:  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-study includes preparation and follow-up work fo	Duration:	1 Semester(s) essential linguistic features and typical structures of oral and written texts. They acquire strategies to cope with various oral and written communication situations in academic and professional contexts. They are able to present content and to communicate in a way that is specific and suitable for the type of text and context and to argue their own point of view in a variety of situations. The module is taught in English.  Contents:  • Analysis of a variety of written and oral texts • Fundamentals of professional communication, e.g., communication theory, formal and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication • Aspects of English grammar and stylistics • Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay • Presenting • Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature:  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Say—and What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching:  Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites:  Recommendations:  General English level B2 each semester  Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains:  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6 Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills (w: 1)  Workload:  The workload is 180h, it is the result of 60h attendance a	Competencies:	The module introduces participants to fundamental principles and texts. They acquire strategies to cope with various oral and written communication situations in academic and professional contexts. They are able to present content and to communicate in a way that is specific and suitable for the type of text and context and to argue their own point of view in a variety of situations. The module is taught in English.  Contents:  • Analysis of a variety of written and oral texts • Fundamentals of professional communication, e.g. communication theory, formal and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication • Aspects of English grammar and stylistics • Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay • Presenting • Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature:  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching:  Recommendations:  General English level B2  each semester  Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w):  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-study is a support of the control of tasks		practices of communication. Participants familiarize themselves with communication situations in academic and professional contexts. They are able to present content and to communicate in a way that is specific and suitable for the type of text and context and to argue their own point of view in a variety of situations. The module is taught in English.  Contents:  • Analysis of a variety of written and oral texts • Fundamentals of professional communication, e.g. communication theory, formal and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication • Aspects of English grammar and stylistics • Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay • Presenting • Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature:  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B.; Rodman, G.R.; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford ; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching:  Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites:  Recommendations: General English level B2 Frequency: Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points: 6  Grade: The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-study is cludes preparation and follow-up work for in-cl		essential linguistic features and typical structures of oral and written are able to present content and to communicate in a way that is specific and suitable for the type of text and context and to argue their own point of view in a variety of situations. The module is taught in English.  Contents:  • Analysis of a variety of written and oral texts • Fundamentals of professional communication, e.g. communication theory, formal and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication • Aspects of English grammar and stylistics • Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay • Presenting • Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature:  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B. Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching:  Recommendations:  General English level B2  Frequency: Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam.  The module exam contains:  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w):  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam		texts. They acquire strategies to cope with various oral and written and suitable for the type of text and context and to argue their own point of view in a variety of situations. The module is taught in English.  Contents:  • Analysis of a variety of written and oral texts • Fundamentals of professional communication, e.g. communication theory, formal and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication • Aspects of English grammar and stylistics • Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay • Presenting • Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature:  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching:  Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites:  Recommendations:  General English level B2 each semester  Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills (w):  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering weights (w):  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam		communication situations in academic and professional contexts. They point of view in a variety of situations. The module is taught in English.  Contents:  • Analysis of a variety of written and oral texts • Fundamentals of professional communication, e.g. communication theory, formal and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication • Aspects of English grammar and stylistics • Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay • Presenting • Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature:  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching:  Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites:  Recommendations: General English level B2  Frequency: each semester  Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam Contents:  • Analysis of a variety of written and oral texts • Fundamentals of professional communication, e.g. communication theory, formal and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication • Aspects of English grammar and stylistics • Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay • Presenting • Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature:  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B.; Rodman, G.R.; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching:  Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites:  Recommendations:  General English level B2  each semester  Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains:  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w):  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study in It least to off the studies. Self-study in cludes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam Fundamentals of professional communication, e.g. communication theory, formal and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication Aspects of English grammar and stylistics Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay Presenting Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature: Selected teaching material. The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B.; Rodman, G.R.; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Say-and What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching: Pre-requisites: Recommendations: General English level B2 Frequency: each semester Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  Grade: The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam communication theory, formal and informal communication, verbal and nonverbal communication  • Aspects of English grammar and stylistics  • Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay  • Presenting  • Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature: Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching: Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites: Recommendations: General English level B2  Frequency: each semester  Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam.  The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade: The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam	Contents:
verbal and nonverbal communication  • Aspects of English grammar and stylistics  • Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay  • Presenting  • Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature:  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching:  Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites:  Recommendations: General English level B2  Frequency: Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam continued in the productive of tasks and portfolio exam continued in the productive of tasks and portfolio exam continued in the productive of tasks and portfolio exam continued in the productive of tasks and portfolio exam continued in the productive of tasks and portfolio exam continued in		·
Aspects of English grammar and stylistics     Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay     Presenting     Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature:  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching: Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites: Recommendations: General English level B2 each semester  Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam Preparation of written texts, e.g. forms of digital communication, application documents, report, argumentative essay Presenting Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature: Selected teaching material. The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching: Seminar (4 SWS) Pre-requisites: Recommendations: General English level B2 each semester Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points: Grade: The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  The Workload: The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam application documents, report, argumentative essay Presenting Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Literature: Selected teaching material. The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching: Pre-requisites:  Recommendations: General English level B2 each semester Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  Grade: The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self- studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam		1
Presenting Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching:  Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites:  Recommendations:  General English level B2  each semester  Requirements for Credit  Points:  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w):  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam		· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
Simulation of oral communication situations, e.g. job interview, moderation of and participating in group discussions  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B.; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching:  Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites:  Recommendations: General English level B2  Frequency: each semester Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam
Eliterature:  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching:  Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites:  General English level B2  Frequency:  each semester  Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self- studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam
Literature:  Selected teaching material.  The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching:  Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites:  Recommendations: General English level B2  Frequency: each semester  Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self- studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam
The participants are also expected to have read the following textbooks: Adler, R.B; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites:  Recommendations: General English level B2  Frequency: each semester  Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self- studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam		· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
Adler, R.B; Rodman, G.R; Athena DuPré, A. Understanding Human Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin Types of Teaching: Seminar (4 SWS) Pre-requisites:  Recommendations: General English level B2 Frequency: each semester Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  Grade: The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self- studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam	Literature:
Communication (2019) Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching:  Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites:  Recommendations: General English level B2  each semester  Requirements for Credit Points:  AP: Portfolio exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self- studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam
Marquet L.D. (2020) Leadership Is Language: The Hidden Power of What You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin  Types of Teaching: Seminar (4 SWS)  Pre-requisites: Recommendations:     General English level B2  Frequency: each semester  Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains:     AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills     AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points: 6  Grade: The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w):     AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam
You Sayand What You Don't. 1st Ed. New York: Portfolio/Penguin Types of Teaching: Seminar (4 SWS) Pre-requisites: Recommendations: General English level B2 Frequency: each semester Requirements for Credit Points: The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points: 6 Grade: The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam		· ·
Types of Teaching:  Pre-requisites:  Recommendations: General English level B2 Frequency: Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam		1 '
Pre-requisites:  Recommendations: General English level B2 Frequency: Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points: 6 Grade: The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam	Types of Teaching:
General English level B2  Frequency: Requirements for Credit Points: The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  Grade: The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam	· ·
Requirements for Credit Por the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam. The module exam contains: AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points: 6 Grade: The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam	rie-requisites.
Requirements for Credit For the award of credit points it is necessary to pass the module exam.  The module exam contains:  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w):  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam	Frequency:	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
Points:  The module exam contains:  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w):  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam
AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w):  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam	· · · written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills  AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w):  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam productive skills AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points: 6 Grade: The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam		1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
AP: Active participation in at least 80% of the classes and completion of self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w):  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam		· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · self-study tasks  Credit Points:  6  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w):  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam		!
Credit Points:  Grade:  The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following weights (w):  AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload:  The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h selfstudies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam		· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h selfstudies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam	Credit Points:
weights (w): AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h selfstudies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam	Grade:	The Grade is generated from the examination result(s) with the following
AP: Portfolio exam consisting of 4 mandatory assignments covering written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h selfstudies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam written and oral communication situations as well as receptive and productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h selfstudies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam productive skills [w: 1]  Workload: The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self- studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam		• instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam	Workload:	The workload is 180h. It is the result of 60h attendance and 120h self-instruction, literature review, completion of tasks and portfolio exam		studies. Self-study includes preparation and follow-up work for in-class
assignments.		· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
		assignments.