About EURECA-PRO

Shaping Europe's Higher Education Landscape

The European University on Responsible Consumption and Production - EURECA-PRO - is one of 65 strategic alliances within the European Universities Initiative. The alliance fosters collaboration, innovation, and excellence in higher education - connecting students, educators, and professionals across Europe to advance responsible consumption and production. Together, we are shaping a more inclusive, sustainable, and interconnected academic landscape.

Our Main Objectives

Promoting responsible consumption and production

Enhancing collaboration across Europe

Driving cutting-edge research and innovation

Supporting student and staff mobility

Facilitating lifelong learning opportunities

Creating a sustainable and inclusive academic ecosystem

Strengthening Europe's global competitiveness

Vision and Mission

EURECA-PRO strives to be a leading hub for research and education on responsible consumption and production. By connecting universities across Europe, we promote sustainability through collaboration and sharing knowledge in all our educational programmes.

Our goal is to prepare future leaders and carry out research that creates positive social impact. Through strong partnerships and removing barriers, we work toward a more sustainable, responsible, and inclusive future for all.

Our Offers

At EURECA-PRO, we empower the next generation of changemakers. Our graduates don't just earn degrees - they gain the mindset and skills to tackle society's greatest challenges. Through sustainability, interdisciplinary learning, and cultural understanding, they're ready to lead a more responsible and sustainable future.

We offer a wide range of undergraduate, postgraduate, doctoral, and joint programmes, alongside specialised courses and modules focused on Responsible Consumption and Production.

But that's not all - students also gain insights into European Values & Cultural Studies, Innovation & Entrepreneurship, and Transferable Skills for Global Impact.
