FROM SENSOR TO BOARDROOM

Precise data from the field are the baseline for inventory and supply chain management. Collection, consolidation and centralization of data become more and more important in the interconnected business world. We developed standardized Inventory Management Solutions to meet the evolving demands of the industries to use precise and reliable data for business decisions. The Inventory Management Solutions incorporate field devices, scalable system designs - including Weights and Measures approved systems as well as centralized supply chain management systems and data integration into ERP business systems. Inventory management – so much more than just measuring.
